Share your Expertise with Students!

Beyond Classrooms Kingston moves teachers and their classrooms into community sites like museums and art galleries for an entire week. The site becomes an extension of the teacher's classroom where students enhance their literacy, critical thinking and problem solving skills.

Each teacher works with the BCK Coordinator and host site staff to design a unique inquiry-based program. Learning at a museum or gallery for an entire week takes away the field trip feeling and creates an environment where students slow down, look closely and reflect through sketching and journal writing.

Presentations by specialists, hands-on activities, and time spent exploring the collections stimulate curiosity and encourage further investigation. Having opportunities for reflection and discussion play a significant role in fostering cultural awareness, civic pride and stewardship.

Beyond Classrooms Kingston is looking to collaborate with interested sites and cultural organizations for virtual programming for next year!
